Summary

With over 15.5 years of senior-level experience in financial management and economic strategy, my professional mission is to drive sustainable value through cash flow optimization and the implementation of innovative financial systems. My expertise includes conducting comprehensive financial analyses and securing approvals for major investment projects, including international endorsements from reputable European institutions such as EIH Bank. Currently, as the Product Owner at Kartez Insight, I bridge the gap between deep financial intelligence and software development to build smarter and more efficient strategic decision-making solutions. I am also the founder of Miras Learning (www.miraslearning.com), an online financial and investment training platform designed to make high-quality financial education more accessible. Additionally, I authored the book "The New Architecture of Business: From Building Blocks to Sustainable Value Creation." As a CFA Level I achiever, I am passionate about knowledge sharing and navigating the emerging challenges of capital markets and the evolving FinTech landscape.
